Pope says Faith in God is Reasonable

(23 Jun 10 – RV) It is not foolish to have faith in God, on the contrary it is reasonable, because, as St Thomas Aquinas taught, human intelligence is limited and cannot know everything. For a third week Pope Benedict XVI dedicated his Wednesday audience to the Angelic Doctor, in particular to his master work in theology, the "Summa Theologiae".

In comments in Italian the Pope said : "To those who object that faith is foolish because it makes us believe something that does not enter into the experience of the senses, St. Thomas offers a very detailed response, claiming that this is an inconsistent objection because human intelligence is limited and cannot know everything".

The Pope said "In his 'Summa' St. Thomas starts from the fact that God exists in three different ways: God exists in Himself, He is the principle and end of all things, so all creatures come from and depend upon Him. Secondly, God is present through His Grace in the life and activity of Christians, of the saints. Finally, God is present in a very special way in the person of Christ, and in the Sacraments which derive from His work of redemption".

The Holy Father went on: "What St. Thomas explained with academic rigour in his main theological works such as the 'Summa Theologica' was also expressed in his preaching", the content of which "corresponds almost in its entirety to the structure of the Catechism of the Catholic Church. Indeed, in a time such as our own of renewed commitment to evangelisation, catechism and preaching must never lack the following fundamental themes: what we believe, i.e., the Creed; what we pray, i.e., the Our Father and the Ave Maria; and what we live as biblical revelation teaches us, i.e., the law of the love of God and neighbour and the Ten Commandments".

"In his brief 'Devotissima expositio super symbolum apostolorum', St. Thomas explains the importance of faith. Through it, he says, the soul is united to God, ... life is given a clear direction and we can easily overcome temptations. To those who object that faith is foolish because it makes us believe something that does not enter into the experience of the senses, St. Thomas offers a very detailed response, claiming that this is an inconsistent objection because human intelligence is limited and cannot know everything.

"Only if we were able to have perfect knowledge of all things visible and invisible would it be foolish to accept truth out of pure faith", said the Pope. "Moreover, as St. Thomas observes, it is impossible to live without entrusting ourselves to the experience of others, when our personal knowledge does not extend far enough. Thus it is reasonable to have faith in God Who reveals Himself, and in the witness of the Apostles".

堂區通訊 Parish Newsletter

二零一零年六月二十七日 June 27, 2010 常年期

『手扶著犂而往後看的,不適於天主的國。』

從今天的三篇經文中,我們可以做出以下三點反省:

(一) 基督徒絕對不能使用暴力

當我們被侮辱時,是否有權利去傷害侮辱我們的人?當我們要達到一個聖善的目的時, 我們是否能以暴力作爲工具?絕對不可。因爲暴力衍生暴力,而主耶穌來到我們當中就 爲了制止暴力的惡性循環而犧牲自己的性命,他沒有對殺害他的人進行報復,反而寬恕 了他們。

(二) 在自己的生活崗位上作門徒

我們目前所處的生活環境和周遭所遇到的人,不是我們追隨主的障礙。我們所投身的生活,就是我們行使基督徒使命的機會。作門徒的要求不是要完全改變我們目前的生活方式,我們要改變的是我們的價值觀和心態。我們該在自己所投身的生活方式和環境中去 作門徒。

(三) 追隨基督要有義無反顧的精神

主耶穌在今天福音章節說的話,不只是對神職或修道人員說的,而是對所有基督徒說 的。我們經常以父母、孩子、伴侶、工作、學習、健康等,作爲藉口來免除我們作門徒 的責任。其實,我們最大的問題是不能認同主耶穌的價值觀。有多少次我們對自己說: "讓我吃了這一頓大餐後才來减肥。讓我完成了這項工作後才來祈禱。讓我多賺一點錢 後才來成家。"我們都很忙,忙著去得到我們心目中最重要,最想要得到的東西。如果 我們真的把天主當成我們心目中的第一位,那麽我們就不會如此拖拖拉拉地回應作門徒 的召喚。

Ordination to Priesthood

Monday, June 28, 7 p.m. St. Joseph's Basilica Deacon Dean Dowle's journey to priesthood culminates in the celebration of his ordination at St. Joseph's Basilica. This special liturgy will also fittingly mark the end of the Year for Priests. Deacon Dean's first assignment as as priest will be as associate pastor at the Basilica. After years of study and formation at St. Joseph's Seminary, he says he is looking forward to sharing his friendship with Christ: "I can't think of anything else I'd rather be able do with my life, than to be able to share with other people in this Archdiocese, in God's Church, in the world."
